We are under obligations to C. L. Sanborn, of Silver Lake, Kansas, for copies of Eastern papers.

Foot county has a population of 450, so we are informed by L. W. B. Johnson, who made the enumeration.

The late rains will have the tendency to destroy the tent-caterpillar. This insect is the product of the spring drouth.

Gen. Grant will pass through Dodge City on Monday evening, July 5th. He visits the springs in New Mexico and Colorado.

H. J. Fringer and P. G. Reynolds attended the congressional convention at Newton, representing Ford county in that body.

Another fine rain Wednesday morning. It set in early in the morning in a drizzle. A wet country this is getting to be, after the spring drouth.

The army worm is operating in many wheat and rye fields in Delaware county, Penn.; and the destruction of those cereals is alarming.

Wm. Thompson had a difficulty with a Texas man in Ogallala, a few days ago. A number of shots were fired. Billy received five shots. He was not dangerously hurt.

Dodge City contains a population of 1200 as we learn from Mr. Shinn, who has about completed taking the U. S. census for this district. This is an increase since last year of about 100.

Col. W. C. Lewis and Major Jas. Hickie, two well known cattle men of Texas, arrived this week. Col. Lewis had visited his herds on the range south. These gentlemen have a fine lot of young cattle for sale.

The Ford county District Court convened Tuesday. An adjournment took place on Wednesday, to enable the court and others to attend the congressional convention held at Newton. The proceedings of the court will be given next week.

The Arkansas river holds its own. It is like the moon Tuesday night—full. It is not a steady stream, for it is preparing to get on a bender. It gets on an old high every July—a glorious spree, as it were. And when it is dry, it is mighty dry.

Cattle men now throng the city and transactions in cattle are becoming lively. The city trade the next two months promises to be good. The late rains is making grass grow nicely on the range directly south of the river, and cattle will be held nearer to the city.

Geo. Platt, formerly city marshal of Caldwell, was shot dead by assassins on the night of the 21st. Last summer when Platt was city marshal he killed two men in trying to make the arrest of some cow boys from Texas, and it is said that the friends of the cow boys had sworn to have his life. Platt was drunk and flourished his pistols the night of the murder.

Dr. T. A. Davis, contract surgeon at Fort Hays, has resigned his appointment, and gone to Denver, where, in company with H. E. Smithes, he will open a drug store. Mr. Smithes left for the mountains with six 4-mule wagons loaded with flour, on Saturday last. He expects to sell the outfit there.—Hays Sentinel.

Dr. Davis and Mr. Smithes were in Dodge on Sunday last, and left for the mountains on Monday. The flour was made from wheat raised by Mr. Smithes. These gentlemen enjoyed a pleasant visit while here. They go to some point south of Denver.

THE CATTLE TRADE.

The late rains have given the cattle business a decided improvement. Grass is growing finely, and cattle men are ordering their herds nearer to the market. Buyers are coming in and some transactions in cattle have been made at good prices. Some sales of yearlings were made at $8 50 per head. A large number of cattle are held on the range south, and the business may be said to have commenced in dead interest. All the cattle will be marketed at Dodge City, except those contracted for north of this point. Cattle men tell us that Dodge City is the best market in the west, and that this city will enjoy a good summer trade. Only beef or shipping cattle have been driven to Caldwell, so that place's cattle business is pretentious and imaginary.

Prices of cattle are a little in advance of last year. There promises to be a better demand, for the reason that money is plenty and is seeking investment in live stock. We give the following quotations as the ruling prices in the market:

Yearlings.....	$8 00 to $9 00
2 year olds.....	$12 00 to 13 00
3-year olds.....	$15 00
Cow.....	$12 00 to 13 00
Beever.....	$16 00 to 17 00

The Texas cattle fever has baffled human skill, eminent physicians failing to discover the cause, much less an effective remedy for the malady. An intelligent and experienced cattle grower informs us that he believes the disease is communicated by the urine of the cattle deposited on the grass, which is retained there until washed away by rain. It is well known that native stock become sick with the fever without coming in contact with the through herds; and the theory that the urine causes the fever seems to be an intelligent and plausible one. Cattle driven from Texas are in a feverish condition upon arrival, and though in apparent health readily impart their disorder. It seems that a simple remedy should be found for what appears to be a slight cause.

The settlers on Crooked Creek will celebrate the Fourth of July at Emerson's in an appropriate manner. About 120 persons were present at the celebration last year, and it is expected fully 100 will participate the coming Fourth.

If dry weather and the incendiaries keep up their lick much longer, Kinsley will arrive at the dignity of a cattle camp supply town, with one store, a postoffice, saloon and blacksmith shop.—Leader.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

An Article that Will Make the Bald and the Gray Headed Rejoice.

Of all the compounds which the chemist's art has given to the world, for hundreds of years, for the purpose of restoring the hair to its natural growth and color, not one has been perfect. Many of the hair dressings of the day are excellent, but the great mass of the stuffs sold for promoting the growth and bringing back the original color are mere humbugs, while not a few are positively pernicious in their effects upon the scalp and the structure of the hair. All hair dyes are well known to chemists as more or less poisonous, because the change in color is artificial, and does not depend upon a restoration of the functions of the scalp to their natural health and vigor. The falling out of the hair, the accumulations of dandruff, and the premature change in color, are all evidences of a diseased condition of the scalp and the glands which nourish the hair. To arrest these causes the article used must possess medical as well as chemical virtues, and the change must begin under the scalp to be of permanent and lasting benefit. Such an article has been discovered, and like many other wonderful discoveries it is found to consist of elements almost in their natural state. Petroleum oil is the article which is made to work such extraordinary results; but it is after the best refined article has been chemically treated, and completely deodorized, that it is in proper condition for the toilet. It was in far-off Russia that the effects of petroleum upon the hair were first observed; a Government officer having noticed that a partially bald headed servant of his, when trimming the lamps, had a habit of wiping his oil-beamed hands in his scanty locks, and the result was, in a few months, a much finer head of black, glossy hair, than he ever had before. The oil was tried on horses and cattle that had lost their hair from the cattle plague, and the results were as rapid as they were marvelous. The manes and even the tails of horses which had fallen out were completely restored in a few weeks. These experiments were heralded to the world, but the knowledge was practically useless to the prematurely bald and gray, as no one in civilized society could tolerate the use of refined petroleum as a dressing for the hair. But the skill of one of our chemists has overcome the difficulty, and, by a process known only to himself, he has, after very elaborate and costly experiments, succeeded in deodorizing refined petroleum, which renders it susceptible of being handled as daintily as the famous eau de cologne. The experiments with the deodorized liquid on the human hair were attended with the most astonishing results. A few applications, where the hair was thin and falling, gave remarkable tone and vigor to the scalp and the hair, and the natural color began to appear almost from the first application. Every particle of dandruff disappears on the first or second dressing, and the liquid, so searching in its nature, seems to penetrate to the roots at once, and set up a radical change from the start. It is well known that the most beautiful colors are made from petroleum, and by some mysterious operation of nature the use of this article gradually imparts a beautiful light brown color to the hair, which, by continued use, deepens to a black. The color remains permanent for an indefinite length of time, and the change is so gradual that the most intimate friends can scarcely detect its progress. In a word, it is the most wonderful discovery of the age, and well calculated to make the prematurely bald and gray rejoice. The name Carboline has been given to the article, and is put up in a neat and attractive manner, and sold by all dealers in drugs and medicines. Price One Dollar a bottle.
